Monday's attendance tops last year's Fair figures

By MARK REA

Lured by an 11-dash harness horse racing card and free grandstand admission, 2,818 paying customers flocked to the Fayette County Fair Monday.

The attendance figure, according to George Finley, fair secretary, topped last year's figure. Although no figures were available for grandstand seating, there were few empty seats to be found for the 11-race card Monday night.

There was some livestock judging and all animals were in their barns by Monday evening. A garden tractor pull and the first of three 4-H fashion revues also helped swell the attendance.

ALTHOUGH the weatherman threatened with rain, the precipitation held off until late evening and the race track was in excellent condition for the first of three big nights of racing.

Parisian Belle won the Ohio Colt Racing Association's three-year-old trotting stakes and paid $32.20, $4 and $3.20. Fair Board President Eddie Kirk announced that there would be no charge for admission to the remaining two nights of harness horse racing.

One of the biggest garden tractor pulls in this area was held in front of the grandstand Monday afternoon with Martin Quigley, of Martinsville, walking off with first prize in three categories while Phil Mathews, of Xenia, took top honors in the free-for-all competition.

Animals entered in the beef, lamb, and hog carcass shows were evaluated alive on Monday and then shipped to various slaughter houses to be processed.

Rabbits and breeding sheep were judged in Junior Fair livestock activity and numerous market pigs were weighed Monday morning and afternoon.

On Tuesday, the Fair's tempo should increase even more with the beginning of the Junior Fair livestock shows in the barrow, sheep, and cattle areas. Also on tap Tuesday is another 4-H fashion revue scheduled for 7:30 p.m. in the Dayton Power and Light Co. tent while at the same time the grandstand racing card features 14 dashes.

Fighting flares on Cyprus

By The Associated Press

Fighting flared today in northern Cyprus as Britain, Greece and Turkey made preparations for peace talks in Geneva.

The British Defense Ministry in London said the renewed fighting occurred near Kyrenia as a British navy task force was evacuating stranded British and foreign nationals from a nearby beach.

Further details on the fighting were not available, but the ministry said the evacuation of about 2,500 refugees was continuing at a beach six miles east of Kyrenia.

United Nations forces reported Monday night that the fighting on the island had stopped and the cease-fire was holding.

More fighting was expected, particularly between the Greek and Turkish Cypriot communities. Turkish Premier Bulent Ecevit said if either Turkish forces or the Turkish Cypriots were attacked, "we will shoot back."

U.N. Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim announced he would double the 2,300-man U.N. peacekeeping force on Cyprus.

Britain said it expected negotiations for a peace settlement to open in Geneva today or Wednesday. But it appeared that the talks would be delayed several days or until next week.

The Greek cabinet was reported undecided who to send, since Acting Foreign Minister Constantine Kypreos took over the Foreign Ministry only a fortnight ago and is not considered experienced enough for the complicated negotiations ahead. Turkish Foreign Minister Turhan Gunes' arrival was scheduled for today but delayed 24 hours, and Turkish diplomats said he might delay longer.

A coup scare that swept Athens Monday subsided after the official radio repeatedly broadcast assurances that "foreign radio stations, known for their anti-Greek attitude, are broadcasting false reports about the internal situation in Greece."

Reports circulated in Athens that an army corps commander in northern Greece had tried to organize a coup to oust the Greek military government and its behind-the-scenes strongman, Brig. Gen. Demetrios Ioannides.

There was no confirmation. Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger's cease-fire negotiator in Athens and Ankara, Under-Secretary of State Joseph J. Sisco, said early today on his return to Washington from Greece that he had heard the coup rumors, "but there was no sign to substantiate them."

Salonika and Larissa, the major cities in northern Greece, were blacked out Monday night. Civilian traffic was banned from the main highway from Athens to northern Greece, and military sources said tanks had taken up positions north of the capital.

Casualties in the fighting since Turkey invaded Cyprus Saturday were believed to be high, but no reliable estimates were available because of the confusion and communication breakdowns.

President mum on court stand

LAGUNA BEACH, Calif. (AP) — President Nixon's Watergate lawyer has refused repeatedly to tell newsmen whether Nixon will abide by the Supreme Court's decision in the latest Watergate tapes case.

James D. St. Clair, appearing at a nationally televised news conference after conferring with Nixon for about two hours on Monday at San Clemente, fended off some 10 questions from reporters that focused on the court ruling expected this week.

In all the questioning, at White House press headquarters here, St. Clair provided a flat answer only when asked if Nixon could plead the Fifth Amendment and withhold tapes if the court directs him to surrender them to special Watergate prosecutor Leon Jaworski.

"I don't know whether it would be legally possible or not, but I can assure you he will not plead the Fifth Amendment," the Boston attorney responded.

Asked whether Nixon already had a contingency plan to deal with an adverse ruling, St. Clair said, "No, and I don't see how he can until he gets the decision, reads the opinion and consults with counsel."

Vice President Gerald R. Ford said on July 13, after conferring with Nixon at San Clemente, that he assumed any citizen would abide by a decision of the Supreme Court. However, St. Clair and other Nixon aides have ducked the question consistently. Said St. Clair:

"I must insist I feel to answer the questions would inject my view as to what the decision ought to be and, therefore, I have consistently and will continue to consistently continue to not answer."

He also argued "it is highly improper to discuss a case that is pending before a court."

Jaworski seeks 64 additional tapes of presidential conversations which he says are needed for the trial of seven former Nixon aides and campaign officials scheduled to go on trial Sept. 9 on Watergate cover-up charges.

The Supreme Court case also embraces the question of whether a federal grand jury that returned the indictments was within its rights in voting to name Nixon an undicted coconspirator.

St. Clair, dealing with related questions, also told newsmen: —No tapes have been burned or destroyed but some might not have existed in the first place, simply because conversations were not recorded.

—He believes Congress and the American people ultimately will reach conclusions about Nixon's guilt or innocence on the basis of a single issue—whether he authorized the payment of hush money to convicted Watergate burglar E. Howard Hunt.

—Special counsel John Doar of the House Judiciary Committee "admittedly has abandoned any views of impartiality and has stated explicitly that he feels the committee must vote to impeach the President. I suggest that is not his function."

—He disagrees with the committee's new Republican counsel, Sam Garrison, who argued on Monday that impeachment should not hinge merely on whether Nixon committed an im-peachable offense but should take account of whether it would be in the national interest to oust him.

"I think that the evidence does not demonstrate complicity in any crime on the part of the President, and if viewed objectively and fairly you can come out in my judgment with only that conclusion," St. Clair said.

St. Clair dismissed as unimportant all Watergate-related allegations (Please turn to Page 12)

Gurney quits race

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Sen. Edward Gurney, R-Fla., indicted by a federal grand jury in connection with an influence peddling scheme, said today he has decided not to seek re-election.

"There is no sensible or sound way to conduct a statewide political race and prepare for, and go through a major trial," Gurney said in a written statement telephoned to Miami by his Washington office.

Gurney, 60, was indicted July 10 in Jacksonville by a federal grand jury which accused him of conspiracy, bribery and perjury in an influence peddling case.

The Winter Park Republican, a member of the Senate Watergate committee, has pleaded innocent to the charges.

"I am innocent of any wrongdoing and the first priority is to clear my good name. After that is done I will decide whether or not to resume a career in politics and government," Gurney's statement said.

Youths tackling enormous project

By GEORGE MALEK

About a dozen members of the Grace United Methodist Church youth group have undertaken the enormous task of scraping and repainting the Fayette County Museum.

Beginning work last Wednesday, the group has been working under the supervision of Galen Bock, who is on the church youth council and will be a junior at Washington Senior High School this fall.

After taking this week off for the Fayette County Fair, work will resume Monday. The youngsters hope to complete the work in three to four weeks but the young painters said they will "take as long as is necessary."

They plan to paint the entire building as well as a nearby garage. County engineer Charles Wagner has promised to supply scaffolding when it becomes necessary to complete work on the upper portion of the building.

Paint is being supplied by the county, and the museum will be repainted in the same colors it has worn in the past. The facings will be a cream color and the trim a bright green.

Adult supervision of the project is being provided by retired

MISSION IMPOSSIBLE — A teenaged work force from Grace United Methodist Church has tackled the "impossible mission" of scraping and repainting the Fayette County Museum. About a dozen youngsters in the church youth group have begun attacking the building last week, and after a week off for the Fair, they hope to complete the job in three to four weeks. Vaiden Long, an adult supervisor from the church, and B.E. Kelley, museum curator, are pictured at lower left discussing the progress.

Elections commission sworn in COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's newly-appointed election commissioners are expected to be sworn in today by state Supreme Court Chief Justice C. William O'Neill.

The swearing-in coincides with the first day the state's campaign expense reporting law takes effect.

Secretary of State Ted W. Brown announced the appointments Monday of Republicans Barbara Rodemeyer of North Canton and Charles E. Shanklin of Milford Center, and Democrats Alexander Priskey of Athens and Daniel O'Loughlin of Cleveland.

Brown said he made the selections from a list of names submitted by party chairmen last week.

The commissioners later will select a fifth member, he said.

The commission, created by the legislature last session, will investigate alleged violations of campaign expense law. The law sets guidelines for filing pre-election expense reports and also requires that all campaign contributions be funneled through one committee.

Brown also announced Monday he has scheduled a hearing for Aug. 22 on proposed rules for enforcing and administering the new law.

RECRUITMOBILE—Although it's certainly non-regulation, this red, white and blue U.S. Army jeep has been attracting much attention at the Ohio Army National Guard tent. A weapons display can also be seen at the tent.

3 arrested in robbery

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)— Three women were in jail Monday and a fourth was being sought in Tennessee in the $34,000 robbery of a 60-year-old cleaning woman, police said.

Three 19-year-olds were charged with aggravated robbery and were scheduled to appear in Municipal Court today.

They were identified by police as Norma Mendez and Denise R. Peoples, both of Cleveland, and Pamela Jenkins of Middleburg Heights.

Nancy Gephart, 20, of Brook Park, also was charged with aggravated robbery in the case but was believed fleeing south with about $24,000 in a shopping bag, police said.

The money allegedly was stolen from Ella Patzold as she left her cleaning job downtown Friday, police said. Mrs. Patzold carried the money in a shopping bag.

Police said it was luck that the thieves happened to pick someone with that much money.

The women were arrested after police got a call about a group fighting in the street.

GM president's wife heads parts company

SOUTHFIELD, Mich. (AP) — Dollie Cole, socialite wife of the president of General Motors, has been named to head an auto parts supply firm.

Noel Gage, chairman of Huron Die Casting Inc., said Monday Mrs. Cole had been elected president of the firm. Huron makes injection molded plastic parts for the auto industry and employs about 135 persons.

"Mr. Cole is not a stockholder in the Huron company, and in view of the imminence of his retirement from GM, we see no conflict of interest," Gage said. Ed Cole turns 65 this fall and falls victim to GM's mandatory retirement.

Polarization helped

The unequivocally pro-impeachment views expressed by Democratic National Chairman Robert N. Strauss have the unfortunate effect of further polarizing this matter on the basis of partisan loyalties. The public interest lies in precisely the opposite direction. This interest would have been better served had Strauss clung to his former position that for him to discuss impeachment publicly would give a partisan cast to the issue.

Polarization along party lines was already well under way before Strauss made his statement that "it would be incredible to me" if President Nixon were not impeached. Infighting among Republican and Democratic members of the Judiciary Committee has been evident for some time. It was heightened by the decision to have staff counsel present the case for impeachment. Because Strauss is the Democrats' national chairman, however, what he says can have the effect of either minimizing or stimulating a partisan approach. He chose the latter course when he told reporters that "any reasonable person" must conclude the President should be impeached on the basis of published evidence. That is a pity. For the grave question whether a president has so violated the public trust as to warrant impeachment and trial is one that should be kept as free as possible from partisan coloration.

WASHINGTON CALLING . . . by Marquis Childs

An ominous lesson

SAN FRANCISCO — If television and the movies are an accurate gauge, the American appetite for crime and violence is unlimited. The sensational aspects of conspicuous crimes are exploited on TV and in the press with one lurid episode succeeding another. The kidnapping of Patricia Hearst is a prize example. Day after day it held the headlines, coming to a climax with the Los Angeles shoot-out in which six members of the Symbionese Liberation Army were killed.

find a few criminals repeatedly advertising their criminality? An answer touches on what is perhaps the most ominous aspect of the case. That is the unwillingness of large elements of the public to cooperate in any way with law enforcement authority. These are not merely extreme leftists who mouth expletives about "fascist pigs" but ordinary citizens fearful of any commitment that might involve them in crime and reprisals taken by organized criminals.

a daily occurrence. An executive of one of the big American motor companies in Buenos Aires was ransomed recently for $17 million. Our overcrowded prisons are schools for crime. The pattern of the seven hostages held by two armed prisoners in the courthouse in Washington will be repeated whenever vigilance is relaxed as in the walkout of the Ohio prison guards and the strike of the Baltimore police.

YET FOR all the sensationalism, the ordeal of the victim and her family, the defiant "revolutionary" pronouncements of the kidnapers, the significance of this heinous crime has been largely lost sight of.

SEVERAL TIMES in the Hearst cases persons identifying Patricia kept silent rather than risk encounter with authority.

Add to this the proliferation of guns flooding the country with virtually no controls thanks to the powerful gun lobby.

And that has been particularly true since the Hearst case has been pushed off the front pages by later crimes such as the seizure of the hostages in the United States District Court in Washington ten days ago. But the real meaning of the Hearst case should not be lost sight of even though it has, temporarily at least, dropped below the horizon of the current news. It is the actuality of what is often merely glib rhetoric - the breakdown of law and order.

This is a reflection of the fragmentation of American life in the turbulence of the past decade: three assassinations, the Vietnam war, the tumultuous demonstrations by the young. It is impossible to predict the ultimate end of the breakdown of law and order since violence begets violence. In Argentina, to take a far-out example, guerrilla terrorism is almost

Throughout the entire Hearst affair, President Nixon said not a single word whether of concern for the parents of the kidnaped girl or in support of the attempt to enforce the law. This is the saddest commentary of all: We are in a leaderless nation. Any moral stature the President may have had has long since been eroded away. In the void, no voice is heard to remind us of the principles that once made this nation great.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

WEDNESDAY, JULY 24

ARIES (March 21 to April 20)

An analytical look at your position may indicate some new avenues to pursue. Keep an easy yet alert eye on future moves, possibilities for making new contacts.

TAURUS (April 21 to May 21)

Venus not too auspicious. This means more concentrated effort, perhaps a readjustment of your schedule, the better to suit changing requirements.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21)

Emphasize your resourcefulness and sense of responsibility now. It will pay off in the days ahead. Do not let down in effort until deals are satisfactorily concluded.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23)

This is no time for "giving up" — especially if the project or task is really worth a second, even a third try. Your ability to persist is the answer.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23)

The importance you attach to some things may have to be shifted to more pertinent matters, but there ARE times when certain essentials must supersede immediate desires.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)

Opponents to your plans or policies may have a point or two. Try for clarification. Many differences can be avoided.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)

Dogged persistence will be day's need; also, the fortitude not to break your stride hesitatingly when obstacles, new problems appear. Use that bright mind of yours!

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 22)

Curb a tendency toward lethargy since your stellar influences promise fine achievement. The Scorpio-born is rarely lax, but such inclinations prevail now.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)

Your ability to weather "stormy" periods will be a great help now. You may run into some opposition, some unexpected situations, but eventual returns will be worth fighting for.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)

Stress your foresightedness in order to prevent needless errors. Don't leap at ideas or suggestions made by those who could mislead through a pleasing manner.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)

Wait for cues before launching any new project. If not on guard, you could get into difficult situations or needless complications.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20)

Neptune, in excellent position, puts your native intuition and perceptiveness at a peak. A time in which to spread your wings a bit — if time and obligations permit.

YOU BORN TODAY, though a Leoite, possess some of the traits from the now descendant Cancer — notably your serious attitude toward life, your humanitarian impulses and deep-rooted idealism. From the ascending Leo, you are given tremendous courage and a gift of leadership — the latter an invaluable asset in business, politics and statesmanship. Both Signs endow you with versatility, imagination and a great love of color and design. Fields suited to your talents: Literature, journalism, the stage, painting, science, the law and finance. Traits to curb: Excessive pride and a tendency to try to dominate others.

Toledoans support impeachment

WASHINGTON (AP)—More than half the persons polled in Ohio's Ninth Congressional District favor impeachment of President Nixon, showed a public opinion survey by the American Institute for Political Communication.

The poll, released Monday, showed 58.4 per cent of those surveyed favored impeachment, while 33 per cent did not. The district encompasses Toledo and its suburbs.

At the same time, a poll of the state's Fifth Congressional District made up of several smaller towns in northeastern Ohio, showed 41.5 per cent in favor of impeachment and 46.5 per cent against.

The poll concluded that generally, persons who live further from the cities are likely to oppose either impeachment or conviction of the President.

Residents of both districts rated inflation and the cost of living far above the Watergate scandal and impeachment.

When forced to choose between Watergate and the cost of living, 61.8 per cent of those questioned in the Toledo area said inflation was most important. In the rural district, 62.4 per cent chose inflation.

When allowed to make the choice of issues without suggestion, inflation was again at the top, although with less striking figures.

The poll was answered by 668 persons in the two districts, the institute said.

Group assisting released convicts

By TERESA C. PITTS

Associated Press Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — She knew a man who'd served three prison terms for car theft. So what kind of a job did she find him? Truck driving, of course.

"He loves to drive, and he has an enormous respect for machinery," said Mary Jane Musgrove, employment counselor for the central Ohio Seventh Step Foundation, a national convict post-release organization.

Then there was the convict who'd been a drug addict for 15 years. She got him a job counseling drug users in a community social services program. "He certainly had the ability to relate," she said.

Ms. Musgrove, who uses the title by preference, spends five days a week matching the talents of ex-convicts with jobs or job training.

Each man is unique and we try to capitalize on his uniqueness," she said. "The prison population is as varied job-wise as the population as a whole."

The people who come in looking for help—usually men, although a few are women—are mostly poor, unskilled and discouraged about how long they can make it in the outside world without a way to support themselves, she said.

The first task is to find them training, which usually comes from state or federal programs set up under other agencies, or personal contacts with businesses offering on the job instruction, she said.

The next step is contacting the employer, she said.

"It's not as difficult as you think. Normally employers who have hired our men are very satisfied with the results," she said.

"Our men usually are very grateful to an employer for taking that chance with them," she added.

Former offenders can even get bonding financed by the state because their default rate is so low, only 2 per cent, she said.

Training programs within prisons usually are inadequate and outdated, she said.

"Even if a man is trained in prison at some job he can use on the outside, the prison generally has no program for placing him in a job," she said.

She said colleges and universities have indicated they are eager to assist convicts in returning to school, because most of them turn out to be conscientious students.

"Given half a chance, these men can succeed, and they're doing it," she said.

Dear Abby:

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

"Over my dead body"

no way to go

DEAR ABBY: Our 25th wedding anniversary is coming up, and my husband offered me a "present" which I don't know how to take.

He said, in all seriousness: "I think it's time for us to present each other with a week off from our marriage every month."

I didn't know exactly what he meant, so I asked him to explain it. He said, "Well, one week out of every month you can do whatever you want, go wherever you please, and no questions asked. This includes staying out all night, and even going out of town if you want to." And, of course, he wanted the same privilege.

I said: "Over my dead body!" Abby, I know some people have this kind of arrangement, but I think they are only asking for trouble. What do you think?

FULL TIME WIFE

DEAR FULL: I agree. But I wouldn't have put it the way you did. That's asking for trouble.

DEAR ABBY: My husband owns a motorcycle which he tinkers with quite a bit in our front yard.

There is a 14-year-old neighbor girl who has a terrific crush on him, and now that school is out, she is over here the minute my husband appears out side to work on his cycle, and she stays until he comes inside. All the neighbors have commented on how this dopey kid moons over my husband.

My husband didn't mind it so much at first, but he says now she has become an awful pest. He hates to have to hide in the house because of this girl. He is really bugged, but he doesn't want to hurt her feelings.

How can I tell her to quit hanging around my husband without appearing to be jealous?

JEALOUS

DEAR JEALOUS: It won't be easy. Why not tell your husband that any man who is old enough to ride a motorcycle is old enough to speak for himself? And, then let him figure out a way to tell this girl she's bugging him.

DEAR ABBY: I am hard of hearing and I rely on lip-reading to understand what others are saying, but when performers cover their lips with the microphone, it is impossible to read their lips.

Abby, will you do us hard-of-hearing people a service, and ask speakers and entertainers to please be sure their lips can be seen, so we can enjoy them, too? Thank you.

MRS. W.

DEAR MRS. W.: Consider it done. It's amazing how we never give a thought to a problem-unless it's our own.

DEAR ABBY: I, too count the number of steps, arrange my clothes hangers and shoes in order, and have the bills in my wallet separated by denominations and all facing in the same direction.

A psychiatrist friend of mine told me that we are called "arithmomaniacs."

DEAR W.A.B.: It figures.

TV Viewing

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Barring last-minute changes by CBS, the 1974-75 season will be the first in 10 years that the National Geographic Society hasn't had one or more of its specials on network television.

The reason: A federal court decision last month which ordered the Federal Communications Commission to delay until September 1975 revisions the FCC had made in its prime time access rule. The revisions in effect would have increased by 1½ hours a week the time each network could have on local stations during the prime evening hours, the FCC says.

But because of the court order, CBS, which had planned to air six half-hour National Geographic specials on Saturday, said it was forced to drop the programs from its 1974-75 schedule. It was the second setback of the year for the Society. Earlier it had been told ABC — which aired National Geographic specials last season — wasn't renewing its contract with them for the new season.

After ABC's decision, "we in essence were looking for a network when CBS told us it had this opening from 7:30 to 8 on Saturday nights," said Dennis B. Kane, head of the Society's TV division.

He said the six shows, produced in association with documentarian David L. Wolper, originally were planned as 60-minute programs, the usual length of National Geographic specials.

They were cut to 30 minutes each for CBS.

"It seemed at the time the CBS offer was the only thing available to us and it was up to us to make the decision on whether we wanted that or not," Kane said.

"We finally said, 'Rather than leave television, because we feel that it is important, we'll stay in it in the half-hour format and see what happens the following year.'"

They'll appear during the new TV season in Canada, he added, but there's little chance they'll appear then on CBS, which aired National Geographic specials for eight seasons until 1973-74.

Controls on credit pondered

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Despite some bad experiences with controls, the idea of voluntary wage and price restraints continues to be entertained in business and government circles as a way of combating inflation.

Apparently little support, however, exists for credit controls, even though it is in the borrowing area that the greatest strains currently are being made on the economic system.

In testimony this week before the House Ways and Means Committee, the man most influential in determining the nation's credit policy, Arthur F. Burns, suggested the reimposition of voluntary wage-price controls. Credit controls weren't discussed.

The irony of this is twofold. First, many critics of economic policy feel that credit restraint by price alone, that is, by permitting interest rates to rise, has failed. As rates rose, demand failed to diminish.

Second, a law already is on the books that would permit the Federal Reserve, of which Burns is chairman, to enforce credit controls or allocate loans by a system other than price.

Activation of the law would be automatic if the President were to determine it was "necessary or appropriate for the purpose of preventing or controlling inflation generated by extension of credit in excessive volume ..."

The authority is contained in Public Law 91-515, signed Dec. 23, 1969, permitting the President to regulate and control any or all extensions of credit.

In commenting on the situation, the brokerage house of Paine, Webber, Jackson & Curtis claims that credit allocation via cost hasn't worked. The reason, it adds, is clear: "Interest rates have not reached a level whereby the borrower has incurred any real cost."

The payment by a corporation of 10 per cent a year on a bond issue might appear to be costly, the broker explains, but that's only if you overlook the fact that nearly one-half of that is written off by the 48 per cent corporate tax rate.

The remainder is likely to disappear in inflation. That is, the corporate borrower will be paying back in cheaper dollars. Assume a 5 per cent annual inflation rate and the entire cost is dissipated.

In the view of some financial men, consideration of credit controls now may have become an academic rather than a practical exercise. They feel that signs of lessening credit demand soon will appear.

Raw steel output being cut back

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Hot weather, vacations, natural disasters and machine repairs will result in a cutback of about five million tons in raw steel production in the last half of 1974 compared to the first half, Industry Week said today.

Electric power cutbacks on some extremely hot days slashed steel production 50 per cent in the Chicago area, the business weekly reported.

Many companies report key men on steel plant crews are on vacation. The Keystone Steel & Wire Division of Keystone Consolidated Industries Inc. still is recovering from a flood that swept through the plant weeks ago, the magazine said.

During the first six months of the year, the industry supplemented mill shipments with about four million tons from inventories, the magazine estimated. But mills now say their stocks are depleted and that shipments in the second half will depend entirely on current production.

About 58 million tons of finished steel was shipped in the first half of 1974, but only about 53 million tons are expected to be shipped between July and December, IW said.

IW estimates 2,795,000 tons of raw steel were shipping in the week ended July 20.

In the first 13 days of July, raw steel output in the nation averaged 395,600 tons a day compared to 404,270 tons a day in June and 425,100 tons a day in May, the magazine said.

With production down and demand continuing strong, the outlook is for a continuing tight market situation.

Franco reported doing better

MADRID, Spain (AP) — Gen. Francisco Franco, Spain's 81-year-old leader, is described by Spanish newspapers as recovering after a near-fatal relapse Friday.

Medical statements indicated Franco's doctors have decided against surgery to remove a blood clot in his thigh. The reports said there has been no recurrence of the internal bleeding that occurred Friday. Medical sources had said Friday's attack nearly killed the aging ruler.

During his illness Franco has turned over his powers as chief of state to Prince Juan Carlos de Borbon, Franco's chosen successor. He is to restore the monarchy after Franco's death or retirement.

Silver anniversary is observed

Mr. and Mrs. Traverse Hollingsworth, 5 Sunny Drive, were guests of honor in their home Friday evening at "Open House" in observance of their 25th wedding anniversary. The party was given by their daughter, Linda, and their son-in-law and other daughter, Mr. and Mrs. John Byard and little grandson, John Traverse of West Union.

Pink streamers extended from the ceiling to the corner of the table. Pink petals floating in an antique crystal dish and pink lighted candles in crystal holders at either end were placed on the buffet server. A pink and white carnation floral arrangement in white compote was on the guest book stand in the foyer.

Miss LaFollette is bride of Joe R. Giebelhouse

The First Presbyterian Church was the setting for the Saturday afternoon wedding of Miss Ruthann LaFollette and Mrs. Joe Russell Giebelhouse. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Hugh LaFollette, 6456 White Oak Rd., and the late Mr. Hugh LaFollette. Mr. Giebelhouse is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Giebelhouse, 211 W. Market St.

The Rev. Gerald Wheat officiated at the 2:30 p.m. double-ring ceremony before an altar of brass pedestal vases containing ivory gladioli, mums and pink daisies. A pair of brass candelabra with emerald green foliage and pink satin bows were in the background. The aisles were marked with pink satin bows.

Mrs. Dennis Wolford, vocalist, sang "Because" and "Wedding Prayer"; Mr. Gary Browning's "Theme from Love Story" and during the marriage ceremony "The Lord's Prayer" as the couple knelt at the altar. Miss Norma Lee Davis was the organist.

The bride was given in marriage by her uncle, Mr. Harrison Lukens of Grove City.

The bride wore an ivory satepeau floor-length gown with a scalloped over-lay of Peaud'ange lace decorating the bodice, with a gathered skirt which flowed softly into a chapel sweep train. She wore a matching chapel length mantilla held in place by a lace cap accented by seed pearls. The bride carried a cascade of ivory roses, baby breath and ivy. Her only jewelry was pearl earrings, a gift of the bridegroom.

Miss Sandra Lukens of Grove City, cousin of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a hot pink sleeveless empire chignon gown with scoop neckline. An over-jacket which closes in back, has a high neckline and long full sleeves. Collar, cuffs, bottom edge and yoke are defined with multi-colored floral embroidery. She carried a cascade of Ruben Lilies.

The bride's attendants were Mrs. William Brown of Toledo, and Miss Sue Lynd of Washington C.H. Each wore gowns identical to the honor attendant only in light pink. Mr. Jerry Ladd of Cincinnati, served as the best man. Seating the guests were Mr. Jerry Powell of Cincinnati, and Mr. Steven Barnes of Springfield, cousin of the groom.

The mother of the bride wore an apricot satin formal-length gown with matching accessories and carried a phalaenopsis orchid corsage. The mother of the groom chose a formal-length gown of powder blue lace with matching accessories and corsage of white phalaenopsis orchids.

Following the wedding, a reception was held in Persinger Hall. AL-NL set for 45th showdown PITTSBURGH (AP) — "I hope we win," said Oakland slugger Reggie Jackson, "but if we don't, it doesn't mean we're an inferior league. We won the world championship the past two years and that's the important thing."

Jackson, Most Valuable Player in both the American League and the World Series last year, was defending the AL's showing in recent All-Star games. The National League has dominated the rivalry by winning 10 of the last 11 meetings.

Tonight the midsummer showdown will be played for the 45th time. Gaylord Perry of Cleveland starts for the American League and Andy Messersmith of Los Angeles for the National before a sellout crowd of 50,235 at Three Rivers Stadium at a national television audience—NBC. Game time is 8:30 p.m., EDT.

Jackson, who will be in right field and bat No. 3, emphasized that he'll play to win, but he won't take any chances on hurting an opposition player or himself.

"I'm going to take the extra base when I can," he said, "and I'm going to try for the diving catch."

He added: "I don't want to hurt myself or my club. It's foremost in my mind that I don't get injured because I'm susceptible to injuries. I haven't played a season yet without getting hurt."

Scrappy Pete Rose, who will bat leadoff and probably play left field for the National League, has a different approach.

"I'm going to play as hard as I always play, I don't want to lose," said the Cincinnati Reds star.

Lee MacPhail, the new AL president, doesn't want to lose either and he took steps so that Dick Williams, the AL manager, had a rested pitching staff. American League clubs were directed to set up their rotation so that All-Star pitchers would not hurl last Sunday. Except for relievers, Rollie Fingers and John Hiller, they all sat out Sunday's games.

"We're going to win at all costs," said Williams "we're going to try to keep our best players out there, whether they are starters or reserves."

Messersmith, who has an 11-2 record and 2.11 earned run average this season, criticized MacPhail's move, saying, "It's kind of farcical to put this game ahead of a pennant race. It's like a busman's holiday. I want to win, but I'm not taking it too seriously."

Manager Yogi Berra's National League team will include Atlanta right fielder Hank Aaron, the all-time home run king, in his final All-Star appearance before retirement.

Berra wasn't certain who would follow Perry with either Boston's Luis Tiant or Jim "Catfish" Hunter of Oakland, adding that he'd lean toward using at least four pitchers.

Williams said he probably would follow Perry with either Boston's Luis Tiant or Jim "Catfish" Hunter of Oakland, adding that he'd lean toward using at least four pitchers.

Football owners increase salaries

WASHINGTON (AP) — National Football League owners are sweetening the pot for the 114 veterans who have crossed picket lines and reported to training camp.

The NFL Management Council, bargaining agency for the owners in the labor dispute with the NFL Players Association, ordered a salary increase Monday night for all players, including rookies and free agents, who are in training.

The action came after negotiations had moved back to point zero with no date set for future contract bargaining.

Federal Mediator James Scarce said Monday the negotiations had collapsed and that he did not intend to call another meeting until "there is reason to believe that the talks will result in progress."

In New York, Wellington Mara, chairman of the NFLMC executive committee, announced that it was immediately "authorizing the 26 clubs to implement the improved pay schedule to all players now in training camps."

This means that each rookie will now get $200 a week while in camp, rather than a daily pay of $15.65. And the veterans who defied the union will get an additional 10 per cent of their salary, up to $10,000 for the training season.

Earlier in the day, Scarce conducted a brief bargaining session to which the players union sent seven representatives but the management sent only attorney Sargent Karch.

"There are no proposals," said Karch as he walked down the hall after remaining in the room only a few minutes. "I'll be back when there are proposals the players association wishes to give us."

Then Scarce announced that he did not plan to call any more meetings at the present time.

NFLMC representatives said Sunday, after 2½ days of negotiations which ended with the owners walking out, that they would not attend any more meetings until the union made new proposals.

At a news conference here Monday afternoon, Bill Curry, union president, and Ed Garvey, the executive director, accused the owners of refusing to negotiate in an attempt to break the union, which they said would not hang in.

Among their demands, the players want elimination of the reserve and option clauses.

The owners have said acceptance of the players 63 demands, including the 13 so-called freedom demands, would lead to anarchy. They say they are willing to talk modification but not abolishment of NFL rules and regulations.

Mara, owner of the New York Giants, said earlier it now is likely the NFL will play the exhibition season with rookies, free agents and the veterans who reported to training camp.

Under a ruling by the council, fans who have tickets for the Hall of Fame game in Canton, Ohio, Saturday and for the first week of preseason games Aug. 2-5, will be able to get a refund if they want it and apply for the money 48 hours before the game.

NFL players set up training camp sites

By FRANK BROWN
AP Sports Writer

Little by little, National Football League players are leaving their training camps to go to training camp.

In some cases, veterans are leaving the voluntary workouts set up by striking members of the Players Association to return to the camps the Association is picketing. In other cases, it's the reverse.

In many cases, it's confusing.

Green Bay placekicker Chester Marcol announced Monday that he would break the union strike and report to Packers camp Tuesday; punter Larry Seiple returned to the Miami Dolphins Monday—bringing to 15 the number of veterans there; and tight end Mike Hancock, used mostly on the special teams, reported to the Washington Redskins' camp at Dickinson University.

At the other training camps where striking union members work out at their own pace, things appear to be going fairly well.

In Washington, some 25 Redskins vets were joined by other NFL players including Alan Page of the Minnesota Vikings, Kermit Alexander of the Philadelphia Eagles, Cal Snowden of the San Diego Chargers, Willie Brown of the Oakland Raiders and George Nock of the Baltimore Colts.

"It sure beats doing nothing," star running back Larry Brown said at the camp, which was operated much like the one they are boycotting. Players opened the workout with warmups, ran laps and participated in various drills with quarterbacks Sonny Jurgensen, Bill Kuimer and Sam Wyche directing the attack.

"The main thing we're trying to do is get down the execution and timing," said co-captain Charley Taylor. "And we're getting in some work."

The same goes for the Long Beach, Calif., camp of the Los Angeles Rams' veterans, where 28 striking players welcomed back wide receiver Lance Rentzel after his one-year suspension for pleading guilty to marijuana possession.

In the more orthodox training camps, coaches continued to supervise workouts with the talent they had available. The talent in the New Orleans Saints' camp didn't seem to impress Coach John North.

"We had to push them a bit this afternoon," North said. "I thought they'd be ready to go after having Sunday off."

The Sunday off may be the last one the Saints will enjoy for a while; the exhibition season is scheduled to open in less than two weeks—whether the veterans are there are not.

Three charges filed

Truck stolen here involved in crash

Three charges have been lodged against a young Chillicothe area man following a series of events at the Fayette County Fairground.

Phone strike vote slated

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Strike ballots are being mailed this week to about 20,000 Ohio members of the Communication Workers of America in the midst of a nationwide contract dispute.

Members will begin voting Thursday, said CWA Director Patsy L. Fryman. The union's executive council has recommended a strike, Miss Fryman said.

"They're taking our leadership, and we are confident they will take our lead and give us a strike authorization," she said.

The authorization would give the union president the right to call a strike if and when it is necessary, she said.

Some of the national contract issues in dispute, she said, are a cost of living provision, wage increases, union security and fringe benefits.

Local contract issues, such as working conditions, job upgrades, job posting and bidding, are at a standstill until a tentative agreement is reached on a national contract, she said.

The CWA represents 10,097 employees at Ohio Bell, 500 at Bell Laboratories, and an undetermined number at Western Electric sales and longline facilities around the state.

without the owner's consent, leaving the scene of an accident and no operator's license following the series of events which began shortly after 11 p.m. Monday.

The Fayette County Sheriff's Department was notified at 11:20 p.m. Monday by Forrest Crager, of Amlin, that his 1972 model Dodge pickup truck and horse trailer had been stolen from the horse barn area of the Fayette County Fairground sometime during the evening.

While Sheriff's Sgt. William R. Crooks and Deputy Lowell Marvin were obtaining the report from Crager, the department was notified by an area resident that there had been an accident at the intersection of Snowhill and Staunton-Jasper roads and that the vehicles involved, a pickup truck pulling a horse trailer, was attempting to leave the scene.

Sgt. Crooks and Marvin nabbed Heath in the pickup truck just off U.S. 62-S, according to the report.

Sheriff's deputies reported heavy damage to the stolen truck and damage to a farm fence owned by Gary Cockerill, Rt. 2, Leesburg.

Heath suffered a small facial laceration in the accident, but did not require medical treatment. Investigation into the accident and motor vehicles theft is continuing, Sheriff Thompson said.

The suspect is presently lodged in Fayette County jail awaiting a hearing in Municipal Court.

Deputies also reported that a 1963 model Chevrolet, bearing license number 4298 HC, was stolen from the Fairground parking lot sometime between 8:30 and 11:00 p.m. Monday. The car was owned by Thomas J. McConaughy, of Leesburg.

A heavy docket of traffic cases was aired in Municipal Court Monday by Judge Reed M. Winegardner. A large majority of the defendants forfeited bond when they failed to appear, and all of the cases had been filed by the Ohio Highway Patrol.

By The Associated Press

A tornado struck Paragould, Ark., early today injuring two or three persons, none seriously.

Thundershowers were still scattered from the eastern Great Lakes to the central Gulf states today and winds of over 50 miles per hour joined rain in Southern Arkansas.

All of the injuries in the small northeast Arkansas town occurred when cars were blown off highways, local police said. Power lines and tree limbs were knocked down and windows were blown out of houses, authorities said.

Meanwhile an inch of rain fell in Limon, Col.; one-inch hail balls hit Colorado Springs, Col.; and almost an inch of rain soaked Panama City, Fla.

Burglary defendant admits guilt during arraignment

A Washington C.H. man indicted by the July term of the Fayette County grand jury has appeared before Judge Evelyn W. Coffman and pleaded guilty at arraignment proceedings.

Rick Lowe, 628 Leesburg Ave., waived his right to counsel and to a jury trial before entering the plea of guilty to breaking and entering an unoccupied building for the purpose of committing a theft offense, a fourth degree felony.

Judge Coffman continued the $1,000 bond until she is prepared to announce the sentence.

Lowe was arrested by Washington C.H. police officers after entering the Courtview Restaurant some months ago.

The charge was dismissed just prior to the grand jury session because the defendant had not been indicted within 60 days of his arrest. However, the charge was refiled and presented to the grand jury by James A. Kiger and John H. Roszmann, county prosecuting attorneys.

The FBI said Wheeler, who was employed as a painter in the Columbus area, is in custody of the U.S. marshal at the Franklin County jail.

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 ♣	1 ♥	2 NT	Pass
3 NT

Opening lead - seven of hearts.

Assume you're in three notrump and West leads a heart. When you play low from dummy, East produces the jack, and now, to make the contract, you must let the jack win the trick!

This is not a terribly difficult play, considering the bidding, since you can make two heart tricks whether or not you win the opening lead.

If you take the jack with the ace, cross to dummy with a diamond, and finesse the jack of clubs, West wins with the queen, plays a heart to the king, and East's heart continuation puts you out of commission. This unhappy outcome is avoided if you duck the jack of hearts.

Now let's change seats and imagine you're East defending against three notrump. When partner leads the seven of hearts and dummy follows low, your proper play is the eight, not the jack!

If you play the eight, South must go down whatever he does next. He presumably enters dummy with a diamond and tries a club finesse, but West takes the queen and returns a heart to force out declarer's ace. The ace of clubs eventually provides the entry card you need to cash the hearts.

By allowing South to win the heart lead with the nine, you maintain a vital link with West, since he still has a heart to return whenever he enters the fray with a club. The duck is crucial and eventually pays off.

Note that declarer fails even if he plays the queen of hearts at trick one. In that case all you have to do is resist the impulse to cover with the king, which would allow declarer to duck. Instead you play the eight on the queen and South later runs into the same dead end.

Buttock Pain Not Funny

My friends think it's laughable because I have severe pain in my buttocks when I sit down.

I can't make them believe that I'm not fooling. I don't have to tell you the comments I have to endure.

Mr. W.D., N.J.

Dear Mr. D.:
The jokes, comments and puns are limitless when there is a complaint in this area. However, those who have had this problem don't think it is funny.

There is a very special type of bursitis in the buttocks that is responsible for sharp shooting pain that interferes with rest, sleep and daily activity. Sitting almost makes it worse.

Strangely, sitting in a hard chair is more comfortable than sitting on a soft pillow.

Dr. Roy Swartout, of California, had this not-so-laughable condition and studied the problem in an effort to find some relief. He believes that a few days of absolute rest in bed, with intensive treatment with drugs and cortisone, will relieve the swelling of the special ischio-gluteal bursa responsible for this excruciating pain.

Other conditions, like sciatica and radiating low back pain, are different from this type of bursitis.

Years ago, out at the farm, we heard a great deal about trichinosis. It seems like the condition has disappeared. Does this mean pork is less dangerous than it used to be?

Mr. L.R.E., Neb.

Dear Mr. E.:
Fortunately, trichinosis occurs less frequently now because people have been educated to cook pork thoroughly.

Every once in a while cases are reported of this serious condition when undercooked pork is eaten.

Be sure to consult a good cookbook to determine the proper temperature and length of time required to prepare the various cuts of pork. This will insure that the parasite that causes trichinosis, if present, is completely destroyed.

THE BETTER HALF

Recall death of Dillinger

CHICAGO (AP) — Forty years ago tonight, 22 federal agents surrounded the Biograph Theater on the North Side and waited for John Dillinger to come out.

"It was the longest two hours I ever spent," Melvin Purvis, the Federal Bureau of Investigation agent in charge, said at the time. "Not a cat could have got through our lines."

Authorities had been tipped that "the most brazen desperado since Jesse James" would go to the theater to see Clark Gable starring in Manhattan Melodrama.

They said Dillinger and his gang had robbed more than 100 banks.

Dillinger had survived running gun battles with police who listed him as Public Enemy No. 1.

In the end, it was the "woman in red" who turned on him.

Dillinger considered Mrs. Anna Sage a friend. She was convicted of running a house of prostitution in Gary, Ind. She fingered him for the G-men in return for a promise she would not be deported to her native Rumania as an undesirable alien. She was deported two years later.

Dillinger emerged from the theater and into the steamy summer night accompanied by a girl friend, Polly Hamilton, and Mrs. Sage, who wore an orange-red skirt, an identifying mark for the agents.

He had dyed his shortcropped hair coal black. His eyebrows were plucked to a fine line. He had grown a small black mustache.

As the agents closed in, Dillinger ran for a nearby alley. He was gunned down, shot at least three times. The agents said he drew a gun.

In the fusillade two women passersby were wounded. Soon hundreds of persons gathered. Souvenir hunters dipped newspapers and handkerchiefs in the blood that stained the pavement.

The theater went out of business and was sold last week.

Plane hijack bid brings jail sentence

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — an Ohio man has been sentenced to 2-14 years in prison for assault and battery with intent to kill, in connection with an attempt to hijack an airliner from Weir Cook Municipal Airport.

Dennis Tillman, 26, Toledo, was sentenced Monday by Judge Saul I. Rabb in Marion County Criminal Court.

Tillman was shot by an airport policeman after he held a 22-year-old woman captive while he demanded $1 million, an airplane and a gun, testimony revealed.

The incident occurred March 20.

So once again it's the time of year to go over the photography exhibit at the Fayette County Fair. So Let's start with John Halliday who took sweepstakes in color. John has been winning these sweeps awards since — well, 1966 is as far back as my records go; he took the sweepstakes ribbon that year, and in 1969, and again in 1970. From the very first stuff I saw of John's there was a freshness in his style and a skill in his execution that made his work stand out. Sure, there are some who just don't dig his stuff, but there are others who are knocked out by his off-beat touch. In competition it's the judge who must be pleased, and there are lots of ribbons that testify to the number of judges that like John's pix.

Howard Miller, another of the way-out clan known as the Infinity Group, seems to have taken the most prizes this year. Miller's record goes back to 1968 when he took sweeps for the shot of the fire department fighting a fire on a cold winter day. Remember that one? Howard again took sweeps in 1971.

Susan Rockhold has earned a place in the Infinity Group with a slide of an icicle. This girl can see a picture, and she's skillful enough with the camera to get it on film. She took a blue ribbon this year in the Fair category.

Bill Malone took a blue ribbon this year with an abstract thing. Bill's work has improved much this year and in the last few months we've seen some remarkable slides from Bill's camera.

Stu Gossard, who took best-of-show for the last two years and many times in years past, didn't enter this year. For many years Stu has set the pace in quality. A good solid photographer with a background that goes way back before Kodachrome was even invented, Stu's ideas and execution show maturity, understanding and technical excellence. When he doesn't enter his work is missed.

In the monochrome area some new names appear, like George Malek, and Mark Thellman, and Don Turner. Who dem guys? Well, Malek's camera speaks for him, and it says he's a photographer since he walked off with the sweepstakes ribbon in monochrome. Thellman? His nature shot took the blue ribbon. And Don Turner is another lad who understands a camera.

Ed Summers again had pix showing good taste and mature technique, as do the interesting prints from Clair Millard.

Again we have a Fayette County Fair photo exhibit worth viewing. It's your loss if you miss it.

Rhodes lands here, tours county fair

By MARK THELLMANN

Former Ohio Gov. James A. Rhodes, who is campaigning again for Ohio's top office, toured the Fayette County Fair Monday night.

Rhodes landed at the Fayette County Airport in a private plane at 7 p.m. Monday with his campaign coordinator Terry Kumbert and his three grandsons.

The former Ohio governor was met at the airport by Robert L. Brubaker, 315 N. Main St., and his daughter, Susie; Lawrence E. Grim, chairman of the Fayette County Republican executive committee, and his wife; Jess Schlichter, chairman of the Fayette County commissioners J. Herbert Perrill and Ray D. Warner; Ron Campbell, Union Township trustee; Elmer Reed, secretary and treasurer of the county executive committee; and Fayette County engineer Charles P. Wagner and his wife, Donna, city chairwoman.

AFTER EXITING from the plane and greeting everyone, Rhodes was escorted by Robert McArthur, Fayette County Chief Deputy, and auxiliary deputy L. O. Marvin to the Fairground, where he first stopped at the Republican party booth in the Mahan Building.

He wasn't too far away from the Mahan Building when he stopped again at an organ demonstration booth and requested some songs to be played. Rhodes then led a group in singing.

Rhodes toured more exhibits on his way to the race track where he was introduced to the patrons in the stands over the public address system.

His three grandsons, Jamie, 6, Jason, 3, and Ricky, 8, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Richard (Suzanne Rhodes) Moore, of Upper Arlington, were with the former governor throughout the Fair and didn't have to persuade their grandfather at all into trying his luck at winning stuffed animals for them. Rhodes loves fairs and especially this aspect of them.

He also stopped in at the new barn on the Fairground to witness some livestock judging and then it was time to go back to the Fayette County Airport and be flown home to Columbus.

Rhodes was the first political candidate to tour the Fair. Others scheduled this week are Cleveland Mayor Ralph Perk, U.S. Senate candidate on Tuesday and Richard F. Celeste, the Democratic nominee for lieutenant governor, on Wednesday.
